Schwabe Adds Former Rose Law Firm Attorneys to Portland Office

PORTLAND, Ore. (Mar. 5, 2008) – Regional law firm Schwabe, Williamson & Wyatt recently added attorneys Adam Rose and Kyle Anderson to its Portland office. Both attorneys previously practiced at Rose Law Firm, a Portland boutique business and real estate transactional law firm founded by Rose in 2004.

“Adam and Kyle both make excellent additions to the Portland office and we are excited to have them join the firm,” said Mark Long, managing partner at Schwabe.

Adam Rose joined Schwabe as a shareholder where he will focus his practice in the areas of business and real estate transactions. Rose brings with him experience in business assets and equity purchases and sales; joint venture relationships; real estate acquisitions, dispositions, and financings; leasing; real estate and business ownership disputes; business planning; choice of entity and entity formations; general real estate and business advising; and nonprofit corporation advising. He is a current board member for Adventist Medical Center. Between 2001 and 2005, he was co-editor of the Oregon Business Lawyer. Rose graduated from Harvard Law School with his juris doctor degree in 1997 and in the same year he began practicing law for Stoll Stoll Berne Lokting & Shlachter in Portland.

Kyle Anderson joined Schwabe as an associate and will continue to focus his practice in the areas of corporate and real estate law. Anderson has experience in business asset and equity purchases, real estate acquisitions and dispositions, choice of entity and entity formations, and general business and real estate matters. Anderson graduated Order of the Coif from the University of Oregon School of Law with his juris doctor degree in 2000.
